More shortcuts in the Pickup/Dropoff screen

When looking at Points of Interest, many times it's most convenient to click on the "Category" button to search for your frequently-used location by category (e.g. Airport, Hotel, etc.)

When you click on the tab for the desired category, if the list is big, you can just type in the first letter or two into the box at the bottom of the window. This is often faster than scrolling and looking.

Another fast way to find common locations is Alphabetic—this opens up a window with all the same information, but with the tabs alphabetic rather than by category.

When you click on Alphabetic, even though it typically opens with the “A” tab always showing, the same search box is in the lower left. As soon as you type a letter in that box, the tab corresponding to that letter will instantly be selected. So if you are looking for the Marriott, you don’t have to click on the “M” tab first—just start typing.
