

Tech Tip Tuesday—November 3, 2020

A note about the Tech Tip schedule, and Thanksgiving, and calendars.

As mentioned last week, there is no Tech Tip this week in honor of Election Day (in the US—our Canadian and European customers will just have to indulge us). If you haven't already voted, we encourage you to do so.

There will be a Tech Tip next Tuesday (November 10), but then the Tech Tip will be on hiatus for the virtual Chauffeur Driven/NLA event and the Thanksgiving holiday. So after November 10, the next regular Tech Tip is planned for December 1.

Speaking of Thanksgiving, the Livery Coach offices will close for the holiday at 6pm (eastern) on Wednesday, November 25th, and remain closed on Thursday, November 26th, and Friday, November 27th. We will reopen on Monday, November 30th, at 9am eastern.

As usual, EMERGENCY support is available 24/7.

Finally, we know that a few of you do like our strip calendars that we have each year in our booth at shows. Despite the prospect of no in-person events through at least the end of this year, we still have some 2021 strip calendars available for the asking. If you'd like a few, please let Caralyn know (caralyn@liverycoach.com) how many you'd like, and where you'd like them to be sent, and we'll drop them in the mail. One mailing address per company please.
